HOW SHOULD WE THEN LIVE EBOOKS 2019

Author: Robert Wilson

Release Date: Expected @@expectedReleaseDate@@

This work differs from previous treatments of End Times Issues in the following ways. It presents an analysis of the Greek New Testament scripture to explain why the Rapture, Tribulation, and Second Coming are not imminent, which is consistent with the fact that these events have not occurred in the past 2000 years. It argues that the Scriptural descriptions of the destruction of the earth in the End Times is not consistent with the capabilities of nuclear weapons and that a different scenario is required to explain the scriptural description of 2 Peter 3 - the destruction of the earth by intense heat and burning and also the death of one-third of the people that inhabit the earth. It then suggests a scenario that is capable of causing the destruction of the earth and is caused by God not mankind, which is consistent with scripture. It presents arguments that the scriptural conditions that must be met (occur) before the Rapture and Second Coming can occur are not likely to occur soon. It sees no possibility of a ten-kings empire in Europe. If the entire ex-Roman Empire is considered, then it could be. It suggests that the ten nations are those of the old Roman Empire that are not in Europe - the ten that are closer to Israel and are all primarily Arab/Islamic. It gives a scientific explanation of the streets of transparent gold described in Revelation. It discusses scriptures individually that relate to The End Times.
